THE POWER OF THE NATION .-Reports of the various branches of the War Department show the great strength of this Nation. The enrollment list as completed last November, contain the names of 2,784,226 men—a result which making the most liberal allowances for errors, leaves a vast population available for military duty, if the exigencies of the crisis called for their service. One of the beneficial results of volunteer recruiting and liberal bounties, is pointedly illustrated in the statement that at the close of 1863 over one hundred and thirty-six thousand tried soldiers, who would otherwise have been discharged, were secured for three years longer. Military organizations, which would have been lost to the service, were thus kept up, and experienced officers were retained in command.

A PREACHER of the Methodist church was traveling in one of the back settlements, and stopped at a cabin, where an old lady received him very kindly. After setting provisions before him she began to question him.

"Stanger, whar moight you be from?" "Madam, I reside in Clinton county, Pennsylvania." "Wall, stranger, hope no offense, but what mought you be doing way up here?" "Madam, I am search-ing for the lost sheep of the tribe of Israel." "John, John," shouted out the old lady, 'come rite here this minit; here's a stranger all the way from Clinton county, Pennsylvania, hunting stock, and I'll just bet you my life that tanglehaired old black ram that's bin in our lot all last week is one of his'n!"

UNIVERSAL LETTER-WRITER FOR COPPERHEADS .- We think the following formula of the utmost importance to constitutional Democrats. They should commit it to memory, in case of emergency. It is a copy of a letter from a Missouri guerrilla to the Provost Marshal at St. Joseph:

MIL. PRISON, ST. J., Mo., Sept. 23rd, 1864. 'Mister Proverse Martial: "DERE SIR,-Please send me that fore Dollars ov my mony to y a clean shert to be hung in. "Respectfully yours till deth.

"HENRY A. GRIFNITH." WHEN an old farmer in Essex buried his wife, a friend asked the disconsolate why he expended so much money on her funeral, "Oh, sir," replied he, "she would have done as much, or more, for me, with pleasure."

"Patrick O'Flum!" called out the Captain. "Here, yer honor!" promptly responded Patrick, with his hand to his cap. "How long do you wear a shirt?" thundered the officer.

"Twenty-eight inches?" was the rejoinder.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY. 11, 1865

" Not Policehren.

As the recent attacks. made on individuals in Salt Lake City, bave cause de no little excitement among those, who seemed to be selected for such unpleas ant demonstrations, and have been deemed of sufficient importance to require that the special attention of the Grand Jury should be called thereto by the presiding Chief Justice, we deem it proper to point out some important facts in this connection as elucidating the system of government which it is desired in certain quarters to continue in force in this Territory.

When it became apparent that there was a determination to carry matters with a bigh hand, regardless of individual rights, steps were taken to find who were responsible for sending the villains infesting the dark corners of the city upon their mission of outrage, and a commondation from Lieut Col. George, Commanding, was addressed to the Mayer of Salt Lake City, setting forth the facts and calling upon him and the proper civil authorities to prevent any turther illegal demonstrations.

This communication was met by the Mayor in the most friendly spirit, and. as an interview with Col. George, we learn, that he expressed the atmost willinguess to put a stop to the offences complained of, disclaiming any kno reledge of the parties who had commit ted them, and stating, that there was no sanction for such proceedings on the part of the proper authorities.

The question naturally occurs: By whom, then, are these men, claiming to be special police, employed and set to do this villainous work? The answer ie not difficult. We' happen to possess. in Brigham Young's own words, the key to the mystery. It is known that he publicly directed the employment of just such means to prevent the association of "Gentiles" with Mormon women, and when his agents are disowned by better, indeed the only legal authority, we are justified in holding himresponsible for all outrages committed by the instruments of his displeasure.

Ignorant and debased in mind. brutal in disposition, gifted only with a clear perception of the main chance, strong passions and a will long unused to restraint, he is materally dictatorial and tyrannical, and does not besitate to override any law that interferes with his passions or purposes, whenever it may be done with impunity.

When the constraint of society would not permit the practice of polygamy. rather than be balked in his licentiousness. he fled beyond the then pale of civilization to indulge his libidinous desires; when opportunity served his purpose he did not forget to take savage revenge for fancied wrongs and now, that the tide away on their own book. Johnston has of emigration begins to overflow in this direction, he lifts his puny arm to stay its progress and interpose every obetac-le in his power to its onward advance.

The means employed are worthy of the man, but not such as will be borne by freemen and he may find, sooner than he expects that his evil counsels home to him and the vengennee he has sought to wreak upon others be visited heavily spon his own

CAPT. Soule. Washington, May 7th. Advices from Sherman's army of the second state, that the formalities of the surrender of Johnston's army, took place at Greensboro, as previously agreed on ; the rebel forces being paroled, laid down their arms, and on Wednesday last, departed for their homes.

A Washington special says : The preposed emmigration to Mexico, which seems likely to assume formidable dimensions, is thought to bode no good to the Imperialists of that country. Immigrants will. by the decree of the legetimate government of Mexico, become naturalized in Mexico as citizens.

Winchester, Va., 5th.

A large portion of Hancock's corps are on the march to Washington via Ashley's Gap. Several regiments have gone up the valley to Staunton and other towns in the valley beyond.

Washington, 7th. It is ordered that all prisoners of war. except officers above the rank of Colo nel, who, before the capture Richmond. signified a desire to take the oath of allegiance to the United States and their unwillingness to be exchanged; be forthwith released on taking the oath, and transportation furnished them to their homes. In respect to other prisoners. further orders will be issued.

New York, May 6th.

Raleigh letters of the 28th and 30th, state that Sherman and staff left that day for Charleston and Savannah, thence to ing to Richmond to meet his army, which was to leave Raleigh on the next Monday. Sherman had issued an order announcing the final agreement for surren der by Johnston. He probibits toraging. and provides certain ways to relieve the pressing wants of the inhabitants. The 10th and 23d corps will remain in the Department of North Carolina, together with Kilpatrick's cavalry. Stoneman's cavalry is ordered to East Tennessee. and Wilson to the Tennessee river, near Decatur. Ala Gen. Howard and the army of Tennessee will march to Richmond. Slocum and the army of Georgia will also march to Richmond.

The rebel army are all leaving for their bomes, many taking their arms with them. Some trouble is apprehended from those who took their arms and went endeavored to earry out the terms agreed on, but the time intervening between the first and second agreements, occasioned some demoralization.

A movement is on foot to organize a State Government.

New York, 7th. Advices from Raleigh, the 30th, says that Schoffeld is now virtually millitary Governor of North Carolina; he issued an order informing the people that by virtue of the present proclamation all negroes are now free, and that it will be the duty of the army to maintain freedom; advising their employment as fixed 14borers, by former masters, and counsel ing the emuneipated people to apply themselves to habits of industry. Before Bazil Dukes' command left, they burned the public buildings and ransacked private stores. and committed various outrages on the property of persons and citizens. His men are mainly Kentuckians and Texans, formerly under Morgan.

New York. May 7th. The American, from Southampton, the 29th, has arrived. The London Times says the end has come at last, and the great war is virtually closed by Lee's surrender of his Virginia army.

The tone of the conference between Grant and Lee was honorable to both and the conditions were such as was no disgrace for an overmatched army to accept; not even Napoleon's great army, could count a series of more brilliant victories than the army of Virginia. They were victorious until victory was no longer to be achieved by human valor, and then they fell with honor. Two years ago, Lee might have escaped to Lynchburg : but now the federal Generals have made moves with as much rapidity as Napoleon's Marshals. The Federal army is entitled to rank among that of the very first military nations and all attempts to establish a southern confederacy must be abandoned with the defeat of the southerners. The difficulties of the Federals are settled in as much as lies between the conquest of the South and the restoration of the Union. In the face of the political problem of the unexampled difficulty which is to be confronted by such questions as r. generation of the currency and a reform of the tariff and the management of the National debt are important as they are in themselves, may appear insignificant. Notwithstanding the strong sympathy felt for the South at Liverpool, the intelligence of Lee's surrender was received with great satisfaction. causing increased confidence in commercial circles. France-Count Walewaski has been appointed President of the corps legislative and the Mexican Embassy will be officially received by the Pope shortly. Czarowitch died at Nice on Sunday.

The Belgian meeting held at Brussels was followed by a great demonstration in honor of the late federal victories, an immense procession repaired to the Federal Consul's residence and the Consul made a speech and a serenade followed.

The London Times says, there seems to be on the part of President Lincoln a desire to conciliate his vanquished fellow citizens, under the guidance of Sewhimself in the Cabinet. by his moderate counsels, and whose life will we trust be spared. At this crisis, to the Union, he may by gentle measures, restore tranquility and perhaps before his term of office expires; colin in some degree the animosities which have been raised by these years of war.

The Daily News, after complimenting Lee for surrendering, alludes to Lincoln's notification to foreign nations, to withdraw the regulations to which Fede ral vessels of war are now subject in their ports. It says: This notice will not effect us, as, with our barbors at Halifax and in the West Indies, we have no occasion to fear, much less remain in ports, and states. therefore, it is probably directed against other nations, whose constantly impeding threat of recogni tion of the South has, during the war, lties of the North.

Port Au Besque, May 6th. By the Hibernia, from Liverpool 27th. Londonderry 28tb:

In the House of Lords on Thursday night, Earl Russell, and in the House of Commons. Sir George Grey, on behalf of Lord Palmerston, gave notice that they would, on May 1st, move an address to the Queen, expressing sorrow and indignation at the assassination of President Lincoln, and praying her to convey that expression to the American Government.

Two great meetings were held in Liverpool. which, after appropriate speech. es had been delivered, adopted unanimously, resolutions expressive of horror and deep sorrow at the assassination of President Lincoln. The Council Body of London adopted similar resolutions; likewise the official bodies of all the various towns and provinces.

Americans, in London, assembled at the Grosvenor Hotel, and the meeting adjourned till May 1st, when Minister Adams will preside at a mass meeting of Americans at St. James' Hall.

Gladstone has made his financial statement in the House of Commons. It shows a surplus of four million pounds sterling. He proposes to take two pence off the internal tax, and six pence off the tea duty, and reduce fire insurance duty one shilling and six pence. No other minor changes. The news papers generally approve his course.

Italy. The Chamber of Deputies have adopted an address, expressing grief at President Lincoln's assination. The Chamber was draped in bonor.

Paris letters state that the most universal regret and indignation was ex pressed there at the assassination.

Mr. Mason, rebel, in a letter to the Index, repudiates the crime, on behalf of the rebel states.

Five twenties declined five to six per cent on the receipt of the news.

New York, May 8th.

The Tribune's special says : It is unlerstood that Sheridan is to be present at the assassination court martial.

Arrangements are being made to pay ill the troops which rendezvous about Washington, prior to mustering out The force kept in service will not exceed 150 000. These will be mostly colored troops. The re-organized army will consiet of four corps of 30.000 each; one regular and one white volunteers and two colored volunteers. Each will have cavalry, artillery and infantry in proper proportions.

The Herald's N. C. despatches give various rumors as to the where-abouts of Jeff. Davis: but none later or more definite than that last week, which rep resented him on the flight, one day ahead of Stoneman. The report that he was obliged to abandon his specie train, is contradicted. The Herald's corresponard, who has creditably distinguished dent gives further details of the surrender of Johnson. Over 30,000 men surrendered; a large number of them did not wait for paroles, but started off as soon as they learned of the capitalation. and are now engaged in pillaging and robbing the destitute people. Over 100 peices of artillery were surrendered. Among the officers surrendered, is the notorious Semmes, of the pirate Alabama.

A New Orleans correspondent contains additional particulars of the negotations for the surrender of Kirby Smith's entire trans-Mississippi rebel army. A meeting to arrange preliminaries took place on the 23d, at the mouth of Red River, at which Coionel Sprague represented Gen. Pope, and Col. Seyminoke appeared on behalf of Gen. Smith. These officers were to have another conference at the same place on the 2d inst. Of the result of this latter meeting nothing is known; but it was understood that the terms proposed were the same as those given to Lee and.

Rumors at New Orleans on the South that the rebel Gens. Dick Taylor and Forrest had made formal propositions for the surrender of their forces.

Gen. Canby left New Orleans suddenly, for Mobile, and it was believed he went there for the purpose of receiving Taylor's surrender.

The Times special says: It ought to be understood that the recent proclams. tion of offering a reward for the apprehension of Jeff. Davis, as one of the parties implicated in the assessination of President Lincoln, was not issued by President Johnson, as his individual act, or merely upon his personal opinion a to the guilt of Davis; it was issued in pursuance of a decision of proper legal authority. It was first unanimously decided in the Cabinet meeting. that parties in anyway connected with the conspiracy, should be tried by a military tribunal and not by a civil court and all testimony relating to the matter. was then placed officially in the hands of Judge Advocate Holt, who examined it carefully and reported to the Secretary of War; giving it as his official opinion that the evidence proved Davis to have been connected in the caption, execution of the plot and it was upon this official report, that the proclamation was based. This is to be made public. At the termination of the interview, Taylor returned to Meridian, Miss, and Canby to Mobile. But little doubt is entertained that Taylor will shortly surrender unconditionally.

Washington, May 8th.

It has been ascertained that Davis and his flying Cabinet bay . with them about $50,000 each, in specie, or $300,000 in all. Our cavalry are close on their trait and sanguine bopes of their capture are entertained. The rebel cavalry escort under Hampton, are deserting rapidly. They state that of 1,500 men sentenced on account of supposed fidelity; are those who are dissatisfied with Hampton's refusal to surrender. A number of officers have deserted, fearing that if captured, they will be treated as outlaws. All the deserters predict that Davis will not have a corporal's guard by the time he reaches the Mississippi, it he succeeds in getting that far. The reason that Hampton refused to surrender, is said to have been a knowledge on his part, of the intention of our Government to try him for the murder of awounded soldier in the late campaigs. Hampton killed him with his own sword.

There was a protracted Cabinet meeting in the Treasury Department w-day. It is thought the question of unrestricted trade with all the States of the rebellion was the main subject under consideration.

The President ordered the release of Governor Aiken from arrest. It is understood there was no just cause for his arrest by the military authorities of

New York, May 8th.

A Washington special says: The Union feeling in the interior of North Carolina is not of that earnest kind that can be relied on. Prominent citizens admit : defeat, but still maintain a dogged adherence to State rights theory.

In Cartaret. Greene and Wayne consties Union meetings were held and resolutions declaring that they will aid the United States Government in the restoration of law and order throughout the State.

A Raleigh letter says Jeff Davis passed through Charlotte on the 22d. The opinion of leyal natives is, that he will attempt to reach one of the numerous inlets on the coast, where a light-daught steamer can enter and bear him and his treasure from the country.

A correspondent who recently rode. from Sherman's to Sheridan's lines, says planters are extensively engaged in cultivating the lands, and there is a vast amount of tobacco on hand.

Jeff Davis did not leave Johnston's lines till the conclusion of Sherman's truce, and was at Monroe, North Carolina, on the 26th,

New York, 8th. Sailed; ship Blackhawk for San Francisco.

The London Star thinks the recent events have materialy altered the state of things, from what it was when England recognized the rebels as belligerants and says: Jeff. Davis with his carpet-bag at Danville is a different person in the eye of international law, from Jeff Davis at Richmond, backed by Lee's army. The United States have unquestioned the right to dispute the validity of the commissions of Davis and to demand that war vessels of United States, shall not be subject to vexatious restraints.

The Star mentions the necessity of a speedy resumption of trade between England and the South, and says they cannot, with propriety, make any representions to the American government in this respect as long as they recognise the rebels as belligerants.

Further Point, 8th. The London and the principal journals are alike in describing the intense excitement which the news created, and alike gave atterace to warm eulogiums upon Mr. Lincoln and bitter denunciations of his assassination.

The Paris and Continental Journals contain articles on the subject.

The scene on the 'Change at Liverpool will not soon be forgotten. The excitemert was seldom, if ever, exceeded. Late in the day a request was sent to the Mayor to call a public meeting to express the sorrow and indignation of the people. One hundred signed it. The Mayor issued a proclamation for the meeting at St. George's Hall, in the afternoon of the 27th, to be adjourned to the evening of the same day, that the working classes may likewise have an opportunity of attending. The flags on the hall and other buildings and shipping of Liverpool were at half mast The Liverpool Post of the 27th was printed with its columns in mourning.

The Times says nothing in political history can be remembered, that ever has drawn forth more unanimous feeling than this news. Personally. President Lincoln engaged the kind regards of every one in England, to the extent to which his influence was estimated in upholding the amicable relations between England and the United States, as shown by the full and unusual severity in all classes of securities.

The Times editorially says: The news will be read throughout Europe with sorrow as sincere and profound, as it was even in the United States.

The News says: Mr. Lincoln has not fallen in flush of triumph for no thought of triumph was in that honest and hum-ble heart. His task was accomplished, his battle of life was won. In all time to come, among all who think of manhood, more than rank and name, Abraham Lincoln will be held.

"JUST HOVER IN THE HAFRICA" Two newly imported Englishmen, just off the steamer strolled into the restaurant attached to the Tremont House, Boston, last fall, and, after a wondering stare at the long row of individuals, each busily and silently engaged in bolting their allowance of food in the shortest possible time, climed up on two stools and hesitatingly ordered:

"A chop and some hale."

While the agile William was ordering their meal, the attention of one of the Bulls was attracted to a dish unknown to him, but of which his neighbors were pertaking with great gusto. Carefully waiting until the man next to him granted "Nother ear of corn," he nudged his brother Bull with:

"Enry, there's an Hamerican wegetable that we don't 'ave Lat 'ome. Let's 'ave some," and ac-eordingly ordered:

"Haw! Waiter, hear o' corn" The corn (a dish unkown in England) was brought in smoking hot, Bull passed it to his countryman, who observing the manner of his neighbors, sliced it down with his knife, and tasted it with an approving wink.

"Good?' asked Bull No. 1.
"Wery," said No. 2, adding with true British economy:

"There is no use in ordering another: 'ere's enough for both of us, passed the cob to his companion, who gravely sliced it after the munner of a cucumber, and seasoning it, Commenced eating the sliced cob. He got through two or three slices with some difficulty to the hoge delight of a small boy with a crooped head behind the Bar, and then turning to his companion, ejaculated:

"My hyes, 'Fury, hif this is a sample hof Hamerican wegetables, their stomachs must be iron-plated like their 'orrid ships!"

An unctuous grin smile slid ov er the faces of the witnesses, and William turned fiercely on the small boy and ordered him to"make change at the other end of the counter."

-Served Him Right.—A dispatch from Gold Hill, Nevada, says:

On receipt of the sad tidings of the national loss the bells were tolled; flags and buildings draped with the emblems of mourning; hourly gaus fired; every store, mine, mill and hoisting works closed, and the streets thronged with an excited people whose anxiety to learn full particulars was kept in suspense for several hours. When the extra was read to a crowd in front of Maynard's Block, a miserable traitor exclaim ed his gratification at the intelli-gence. The police seized and conveyed him to the station house. A crowd assembled and appointed a committee, who reported, recommending thirty lashes, placarding upon his lack "A traiter to his country," and to hand him over to the Provost Guard-all of which was done, the officers being forcibly removed. The guard met the crowd on the Divide, and we hope all disturbance will cease with this demonstration. Patrols are to be established to night to guard against incendiary attempts. The miserable character of Coxey, the man whipped, alone saved his
